The cathode ray tube (CRT) is a vacuum tube that contains one or more electron guns and a phosphorescent screen, and is used to display images. It modulates, accelerates, and deflects electron beam(s) onto the screen to create the images. The images may represent electrical waveforms (oscilloscope), pictures (television, computer monitor), radar targets, or other phenomena.

My name is Jestine Yong and I'm a professional electronics repairer and an instructor. I took my first electronics repair course back in the year 1987. In 1991 I was hired by a firm to repair various electronics equipment. After 12 years in the repairing line, in 2003 I set up my own technical training center to train students who are interested in electronics repair.
