

effect of flipped classroom pdf

A flipped classroom is an instructional strategy and a type of blended learning that reverses the traditional learning environment by delivering instructional content, often online, outside of the classroom. It moves activities, including those that may have traditionally been considered homework, into the classroom. In a flipped classroom, students watch online lectures, collaborate in online ...

Improving Attainment and Progress through Homework

John Hattie developed a way of synthesizing various influences in different meta-analyses according to their effect size (Cohenâ€™s d). In his ground-breaking study â€œVisible Learningâ€” he ranked 138 influences that are related to learning outcomes from very positive effects to very negative effects. Hattie found that the average effect size of all the interventions he studied was 0.40.

This is Tim Bowen's response: This is a very common problem. Most, if not all, language classes contain students of mixed abilities. This happens for a number of reasons, but mainly because of different learning styles, different learning speeds, variations in motivation and, very frequently, as a result of logistical decisions.
