

isolation and identification of pdf

Emotional isolation is a state of isolation where one may have a well-functioning social network but still feels emotionally separated from others.. Population-based research indicates that one in five middle-aged and elderly men (50â€“80 years) in Sweden are emotionally isolated (defined as having no one in whom to confide). Of those who do have someone in whom they can confide, eight out of ...

Emotional isolation - Wikipedia

Isolation (German: Isolierung) is a defence mechanism in psychoanalytic theory first proposed by Sigmund Freud. While related to repression the concept distinguishes itself in several ways. It is characterized as a mental process involving the creation of a gap between an unpleasant or threatening cognition, and other thoughts and feelings.
