A timber roof truss is a structural framework of timbers designed to bridge the space above a room and to provide support for a roof. Trusses usually occur at regular intervals, linked by longitudinal timbers such as purlins. The space between each truss is known as a bay.. Timber roof trusses were a medieval development. Earlier roofs had been supported by coupled rafters â€“ pairs of rafters ...

1. Introduction. Timber for construction is one of the many forest products used around the world. It is used in buildings both large and small; here we consider timber for the construction of buildings of six or more storeys, and the biochemistry and chemistry of wood modification that could enable much larger buildings.

Wood drying (also seasoning lumber or wood seasoning) reduces the moisture content of wood before its use. When the drying is done in a kiln, the product is known as kiln-dried timber or lumber, whereas air drying is the more traditional method.. There are two main reasons for drying wood: Woodworking: when wood is used as a construction material, whether as a structural support in a building ...
